

Leadership for College Readiness

How effectively are you driving student success?

Getting America's students ready to be successful in college takes courageous school leadership that challenges practices and beliefs around student success. AVID's Leadership for College Readiness (LCR), a two-day workshop, examines school structures, processes, protocols, and systems that support college readiness.

Enhance your leadership skills while learning how to systematically set in motion an approach to college and career readiness that benefits all students. This workshop will help you find clarity, confidence, and comfort with instituting change. We will analyze examples of how a school should be effectively organized to assist staff in developing a college-ready culture for all students. In addition, you will learn how to focus your school's efforts to strategically plan and implement systems to improve performance for all.

Workshop Objective:

- Participants will leave with processes to support building a culture, provide leadership, guide instruction, and develop/align/integrate systems that ensure college readiness for all students.

Designed for:

- School principals
- School and district administrators
- Teacher leaders
- Leadership teams (encouraged to come together)

Curriculum and Activities Include:

- Establishing compelling, challenging, and achievable goals
- Providing access, equity, and support for all students with the most rigorous curriculum
- Analyzing instruction, using David Conley's "Four Dimensions of College and Career Readiness" and Common Core State Standards
- Implementing meaningful structures, processes, and systems into the school site
- Shaping college-ready cultures by exploring barriers schools and students face
- Creating coherence in the roles/responsibilities of students, staff, administration, and parents

Participants Will Receive:

- Motion Leadership in Action, by Michael Fullan
- The Speed of Trust, by Stephen M.R. Covey

Kudos From Previous Participants:

“As a presenter of staff development in my own district, I love to see a well-done presentation by a well-oiled team. Thank you for two days of excellent training.”

– Houston, TX

“Super excited about shifting our culture and leading our students on a path to college and career readiness!”

– Lake Placid, FL

We will come to you.

Our AVID-trained professionals are available to come to your district to accommodate your schedule and location.

To set up your customized professional learning session, email leadershipdev@avid.org.